My Autobiography

My full name is Abie Watford.

I was born on December 14, 2009 at 6 in the morning at Borehamwood Hospital, near London. My height was 51 cm and my weight was 2.8 kg. The day I was born it was snowing a lot.

In my earliest childhood I lived in a small village near London with my parents and my two sisters. I spent a lot of time at my grandparent's house.

My school was called Dagenham Park School. My teachers were Alice, Mary and Tom. My best friends were Rebecca and Jai.

One of my most important memories is I performed at the school festival. It was very exciting.

I like to dance and I'm really good at swimming. My greatest achievement was when I won a swimming competition.

What makes me unique is my greatest sense of humor.

In the future I would like to be a veterinarian and help animals.
